Media Tours Set for New JSRCC Library & Technology Center

Richmond, Virginia (September 27, 2007) – J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College will conduct media tours of the College’s new Library & Technology Center on Wednesday, October 3 from 9:00 – 11:00 a.m.

Construction of the building is scheduled to be completed in the spring of 2008. Classes will be held in the Library & Technology Center starting with the 2008 Fall semester. The new wireless building will house a library of the future, state-of-the-art classrooms and a 400 seat auditorium.

“With the continued growth of our student population, the Library & Technology Center will allow Reynolds to better serve the Greater-Richmond community,” says JSRCC President Dr. Gary Rhodes. “Students attending Reynolds in the near future will enjoy the first completely wireless building and a new generation library that will allow them the opportunity to search for answers worldwide.”

The Virginia Community College System allocated $3.9 million in supplemental funds for Reynolds to build its first new academic building on the Parham Road Campus in over 25 years.

Media Note: Media planning to attend the tours are asked to contact External Relations Coordinator Steve Vehorn at 804.523.5229 or svehorn@reynolds.edu.
